ABOUT ME

As a passionate musician since the age of seven, I am dedicated to building a career that reflects my artistic vocation. A skilled multi-instrumentalist, I have enhanced my training in jazz drumming and guitar in both Paris and Boston, while also mastering the duduk and harmonica. My journey includes significant achievements in music composition, highlighted by the release of the album "BN" with my jazz fusion group, ButterNote. Under the pseudonym Pierre Khanatos, I am currently developing a personal project, the album "Serioja," where I delve into my original solo piano compositions. My expertise allows me to teach across various domains, including practical piano instruction and theoretical subjects such as music theory, notation, and composition, all while organizing collective workshops.
